

will - won't / wount /

Use

- Predictions

I think it will rain tomorrow.

I think I won't go to the party
because I'm too busy.

- Dit i fet

a - I'm hungry

b - I will make you a sandwich.

- Promises, offers and warnings.

I will always love you.

I will kill you if you come later than 2 am.

always, ever, never, just, only...

am / are / is going to - voy a ...

I am going to travel to Paris next Christmas.

You aren't going to come to the party.

Are you going to come to the party?

- Plans or intentions

I am going to travel to Paris next Christmas.

- Predictions with present evidence

Wow, it's very cloudy and dark.
It's going to rain.

Oh, look, Victor, Maya, Manu and Emma on a bike! They are going to fall.

Present continuous with a future sense

- Arranged actions or events

I am meeting Margalida this evening.

She is visiting her aunt next week.

Be going to = intention

Present continuous = arranged

We are going to go to Quevedo's concert in spring. plan, intention

We are going to Quevedo's concert this weekend, look, I have the tickets.

I am going to visit my family in Morocco this summer.

I am visiting my family in Morocco next week, look, I have already bought the tickets.

Present Simple

- Timetabled actions

The first lesson starts in 10 minutes.

Next train leaves in 5 minutes.

Future continuous

Form

will be + V ing

Tomorrow at 9 pm I will be having a shower.

Tomorrow at 9 pm I won't be having a shower.

Will you be having shower?

Yes, I will. / No, I won't.

Use

- To talk about an action that we will be doing at a specific time in the future.

Tomorrow at 9 pm I will be having a shower.

- To emphasize that you will be doing an action for some time at a specific time in the future.

In Ibiza Matias will be dancing on the bar all night long.

Future Perfect

Form

will have + participle (ed, 3rd)

won't have + participle

Will you have + participle

By January I will have finished
my book.

- To talk about an action that will be completed at a specific time in the future.

Typical time expression: by

By January I will have finished
my book.